Product Presentation

Engineered Simplicity, at Scale

The Designer – Rainlight (UK)

Rainlight is a London based design studio with a global perspective, working with clients across North America, Europe, and Asia. They believe that design is an art and a science that defines optimal, sustainable and beautiful solutions. Part Laboratory, part workshop, part studio, Rainlight combines inspired design thinking with business acumen to create products that enhance how people live, work, and play in the real world.

The Everyday Tech Table, Elevated

#1 Thin Clean Lines

Traverse Satellite's table top is less than 1-1/4 inch thick. Inspired by the slenderness of a brushstroke, the surface is complemented by an elegantly designed frame that guarantees both stability and maximum leg room. Clean lines and the aesthetic of lightness make the table appear longer, thinner, linear, and narrow.

Connectivity is crucial for today's conference table. Satellite offers various power and data options, neatly embedded in-surface or tucked underneath. Cables run through the integrated cable management in the legs, clean and concealed.

#2 Tech Inside

#3 From Sit-to-Stand, ○ to □

okamura

Today's open workspace requires various conference environments. From informal to formal, open or closed, 1-on-1 to larger groups, sitting on a couch, conference chairs or standing. Traverse Satellite is offered in many different sizes and shapes with three height options, all with the uniformed elegant frame and powerful functionality.
